

CLATSOP SWCD

PRE-ORDER NATIVE PLANT SALE CATALOG 2017

SPECIES	Species Description	Shade Tolerance: High, Moderate, Low	Soil Moisture Needs: Dry, Moist, Wet	Picture
Red Osier Dogwood	A deciduous shrub with stems that turn a brilliant red in fall/winter season. Produced white flowers in the spring and blue-white berries in the fall. 	Moderate	Moist
Bleeding Heart	This fern-like plant can reach 2 feet tall and growth heart shaped deep pink flowers on purple stems. Often found under tree canopys, it will bloom in the spring.	Moderate/High	Moist
Coastal Strawberry	This ground cover is found along the northwest coast and thrives in sandy gritty soil. The berries are edible and incredibly delicious!	Moderate	Dry/Moist
Red Flowering Currant	Upright 10 ft shrub with deep red flowers. Berries are dark blue to black with hairs and a waxy bloom. 	Moderate	Moist
Common camas	Leaves slender and long. Clusters of star-shaped blue flowers that come back spring after spring. Offers nectar to butterflies and hummingbirds. Grows best in full sun where there is plenty of water in the winter and spring but can dry out in the summer.	Moderate/Low	Dry/Moist
Nootka Rose	Nootka Rose gives rise to attractive pink flowers and bright red rose hips that persist through the winter. This 10 ft shrub is covered in thorns, but is an attractive plant for wet sites. Common wetland and streambank plant.	Low/Moderate	Moist/Wet

Vine Maple	Vine maples are small deciduous trees that have multiple trunks and spreads to 20' widths, much like a vine. It is a quick grower, growing to 10-15 feet. Can be trained as a tree with a single trunk, it's pliable branches can be bent to shapes of bonsai, or trained along a fence.	High	Moist
Sitka Columbine	Sitka Columbine is a waist high herbaceous perennial that blooms from late spring through summer. The eye-catching flower has five yellow petals that end in red, tubular nectar spurs.	Low/Moderate	Moist
Slough Sedge	Slough sedge is a rapidly growing perennial that spreads by rhizomes. It usually grows to about 2'. The flowering portion of the plant is elongated with tightly clustered flowers.	Low/Moderate	Wet
Oregon iris	A beautiful native grass iris, growing 1-2' tall. Flower color can range from blue to purple.	Low/Moderate	Dry/Moist
Evergreen Huckleberry	Maximum height of 6 feet tall, this plant will grow in most gardens. Berries are blue to black and edible for humans. Retains its foliage year round.	Moderate/High	Dry/Moist
Pacific wax myrtle	Tall shrub with small evergreen leaves. Produces a waxy fruit in the fall.	Low/Moderate	Dry/Moist
Sitka Spruce	Evergreen tree that can reach up to 300 ft in height and live up to a 1000 years old. The most common tree species found along the Oregon coast.	High	moist
Indian plum/osoberry	Fast growing deciduous shrub. Produces fragrant 1/2 inch greenish white flower clusters. Blooms in early spring.	Low/Moderate	Moist

Snowberry	Producing small pink flowers in spring, Snowberry is unique by producing egg-white berries in the late summer which are retained by the plant until spring. Common stream bank plant. 	Moderate	Dry/Moist
Mock orange	Large deciduous shrub that produces fragrant white flowers in the spring.	Low/Moderate	Dry/Moist

* Provides pollinator habitat

For More Information:
Clatsop Soil and Water Conservation District
503-325-4571
cswcd@clatsopswcd.org